Who we are

Holmes Noble is an executive search and consulting firm that prides itself on being different, thereby standing out from the 'herd'. Founded in 2005 by the Chief Executive, Michelle Carson-Williams, because she wanted to provide a more strategic and partnership based service to her clients, where the industry had been known to be very transactional in nature. To this day the DNA of the firm is permeated with this desire. Consequently, not only does the firm provide executive search, it offers a complete portfolio of services, including leadership coaching and development, and interim management.

All organisations, no matter which market or sector, depend on the right talent for the right role at the right time. This is no different at Holmes Noble. The Executive Team and Heads of Practice have been chosen because of their experience, reputation, sector and functional knowledge, and belief in the founding principles of the firm.

In today's world, where the right talent can propel a business to the top decile of performance, having the support of Holmes Noble means that you have the best talent partner by your side. Being an agile firm means that Holmes Noble is more flexible than the 'big six' of executive search, and you can be assured of satisfaction because each and every one of our clients are important to us. We don't survive because of being in the 'big six' club, we thrive because of our commitment to our clients, resulting in repeat business as we become a trusted partner. Furthermore, as part of the INAC network, a strategic alliance of like-minded firms, Holmes Noble is able to offer a global presence and service.

Our way of working

Team orientated and client focussed, Holmes Noble provides a collaborative, committed and intimate retained consulting service. Agile and flexible, Holmes Noble choose to work with clients who echo our values of partnership, equality, integrity and rigour.

Taking a best-in-class approach, Holmes Noble actively listen and question whilst taking the initial brief, enabling a holistic understanding of the client's needs. The ability to capture and communicate culture as well as the requirement, means each project is tailored to the client's needs. Utilising sector and functional knowledge and extensive international contacts, Holmes Noble's consultants immerse themselves in the market, taking a considered course to identify, approach and unlock 'difficult-to-find', passive talent.

Holmes Noble's success is based on the enduring strength of relationships and its interests are firmly vested in the long term success of clients. This drives a consistent and tenacious 'right-first-time' approach on every assignment, empowering clients to solve critical problems with pace, and helping them advance their business through executive recruitment, leadership and organisational development.

Stage Gates

Throughout all phases of an executive search assignment the Holmes Noble team will remain in contact through formal weekly reporting and regular update calls. It is important that the client has visibility of individuals being identified with continuing feedback from the outset.

of all mandates were filled in the past 12 months.

of placed candidates have been female in the past 12 months.

Our commitment to equality and CSR

In executive search, diversity and inclusion is an often-used phrase but it is a small sub-set of a broader agenda. One of the founding principles of Holmes Noble is to provide equal opportunity to candidates regardless of race, colour, creed, gender or socio-economic background. Holmes Noble embraces meritocracy in all that it does, and it starts internally. Holmes Noble employs a diverse range of people and embraces different experiences and preferences. Having a broad mindset helps to identify and relate to exceptional talent that would normally be inaccessible or unknown.

This approach to equality is also exemplified by our CSR activities. As well as raising money for charitable causes through employee initiatives; Holmes Noble sponsors two charities.

THSH

Explore the music industry from all angles.

Created by Town Hall Symphony Hall (THSH), their 360 Young Producers Programme enables 16-25 year-olds to explore the music industry from all angles, gaining practical skills from music industry professionals, learning how to produce, programme and deliver live music events at the iconic Town Hall and Symphony Hall in Birmingham and having a better understanding of how the commercial business sector works as young creative leaders.

SEO London

Sponsors for Educational Opportunity (SEO) London provides superior educational, training and mentoring support to young people from under-represented and under-served backgrounds to help maximise their opportunities for success. The platform incorporates programmes for secondary school students (SEO Schools), university students and recent graduates (SEO Careers) and alumni (SEO Connect).

Events

To ensure Holmes Noble are best-placed to identify and attract the greatest leaders and senior professionals, Holmes Noble regularly hosts leadership roundtables, networking events and publishes discussion papers, blogs and case studies. Recent leadership events include;

Automation in the modern day

A hugely successful roundtable event held at The Manufacturing Technology Centre (MTC) in Ansty. After a tour of the impressive facilities at The MTC, senior leaders convened over dinner to discuss their thoughts about how automation affects the current UK manufacturing landscape. The resulting debate gave an insight into many key points on how automation affects recruiting, balancing risk and international trade.

When generations collide

How HR is rising to the challenge of the multi-generational workforce

Holmes Noble were joined by the Head of People & Organisational Development of a leading global transport and logistics company and the Digital Client Engagement Director of a pre-eminent business school to discuss the ways in which, collectively, the HR community can embrace the opportunities and handle the challenges that the multi-generational workforce brings.

She has spent the last 10 years working in global social businesses in education (Oxford University Press) and reproductive health (Marie Stopes International), as HR Director. Caroline is Group HR Director for Hill & Smith Holdings PLC.

Michelle Carson-Williams | Chief Executive and Founder

Michelle is Chief Executive and Founder of Holmes Noble. As well as being Chief Executive, Michelle has responsibility for leading the Board Practice and works with leaders both nationally and internationally to create and develop high performing boards.

Michelle began her early career in research, working for one of the UK's leading broadcasters. She moved into recruitment in 1994 and then into Executive Search in 1999. She joined the European arm of a US-listed search firm as Managing Consultant and later as Director. Michelle led the growth of a number of successful divisions over the next six years, enabling the office to become the largest and fastest growing operating outside of the US. Michelle has also held multiple Trustee roles with her last appointment as Director at Sidney Stringer Multi-Academy Trust. She is also a member of Chapter Zero.

Amy Speake | Board Member and Partner

Amy is a Member of the Board and Managing Partner at Holmes Noble. She has operated in Executive Search for over 17 years. She began her career within Banking, working for the European division of a head-hunting firm. She joined Holmes Noble in 2007 to develop the global Infrastructure Practice where clients ranged from multinational and listed organisations through to regional and privately held SME's and start-ups. She joined Odgers Berndtson recruiting executives and leadership teams across the Energy, Infrastructure and Manufacturing sectors. In 2015, Amy returned to Holmes Noble where she has overall responsibility for the Retail, Logistics & Supply Chain and Energy & Infrastructure Practices globally. Amy is also a capital development committee member at Town Hall Symphony Hall and a member of Chapter Zero.

Ben Gilbert | Board Member and Partner

Ben Gilbert sits on the board at Holmes Noble. Ben has a decade of experience in recruitment which includes working for a global blue chip firm based in both Australia and the UK, as well as in a boutique consultancy specialising in Engineering & Manufacturing. He has worked across multiple sectors with an emphasis on placing mid-senior management professionals across Europe and Asia Pacific for SME's to major blue chip firms. Ben has a wealth of experience appointing executives, niche professionals and high calibre individuals across technical, commercial and operational functions in Manufacturing & Engineering. Alongside his executive search remit he is responsible for the strategic direction, quality and delivery of Holmes Nobles Industrial Practice.

A wealth of experience

Dr. David Kearney | Chartered Director, Chartered Psychologist

David has over 25 years of consulting and facilitation experience with global and international companies across Europe, North America and Asia-Pacific in a variety of sectors: aerospace, construction, defence, energy, financial services, IT solutions, pharmaceutical, retail and transport. He is a Fellow of the Institute of Directors, and of the Institute of Business Consulting, and is an Associate Fellow of the British Psychological Society. David works closely with Holmes Noble's executive team to deliver their broader consultancy services.

Roger Johnston | Director, Business Development

Here's what some of our clients say...

Global Technology Organisation

UK HR Director

Holmes Noble provided a shortlist of four individuals who all met the requirements for the role and more importantly met the cultural and personality brief. This was an extremely hard search to execute as the individual had to have the commercial and technical acumen and the personality to traverse the corporate complexities and red tape while balancing this with the day to day.

We took two candidates through to Germany for final stage and my CEO could have hired both candidates if we had a second role. We remain delighted with the appointment. I've personally been impressed with Holmes Nobles focus, agility and level of collaboration. I have subsequently engaged them on three senior mandates and have had the same level of service with equally positive outcomes.

of assignments filled from the original shortlist in the past 12 months.

PE backed Retailer

European HR Director

We worked with Holmes Noble to develop a talent pipeline for the C-Suite and develop processes that supplements our succession planning model and builds a robust, dynamic solution.

We worked together on an on-going basis to build our talent pipeline and Holmes Noble have been supporting us on several key hires which have historically been very challenging to fill.

Here's what some of our clients say...

Global 3PL

Head of People & Organisational Development

The process is slick, and I like the fact that I can trust Holmes Noble to own the process. That is the real advantage of working in partnership, you get to understand your partners preferences so then you know what to do.

What I do really like and appreciate about Holmes Noble is that they manage and maintain their brand while style adapting and flexing the process to ensure they fully fit the client's needs. I like that Holmes Noble always bring insights into what they are communicating to us, they are market experts; they know what's going on in the sector and are incredibly well networked.

Holmes Noble bring anecdotal evidence; this is what the candidates are asking for and this is how the brand is received in the market. Even if Holmes Noble are not doing a search for us, they are able to tell us about what the marketplace is currently like.

The feedback that candidates give us about Holmes Noble is always really good. Holmes Noble keep them well informed throughout the process and end up being advocates for the business.

Global EPC Leader

Managing Director Europe - Water

Companies seeking to find the right fit of senior professional candidates into their business would do well to speak with Holmes Noble.

Excellent communication throughout the process ensuring both the employer and potential candidate can engage productively and make the right decision. Fantastic attention to the details all the way through to the end of the process and beyond.

Here's what some of our clients say...

Global Aerospace Manufacturer

Global VP of HR

Holmes Noble provided an initial shortlist for the VP role that was so strong we actually positioned the 2nd and 3rd choice candidates for an MD position in a sister division.

Their understanding, pace, professionalism and delivery were second to none and I can highly recommend them.

FTSE Precision Engineering Organisation

President

I think there are great people at Holmes Noble, I have worked with all the senior team, but also met some of the younger team as well, I think they are really bright and really strong.

It was great to see that mix of youth and experience in the company. There was a good intimacy that came from the team, they worked hard to understand what we were about, what our culture is and what we were looking for in the role.
